. . . silence . . .

A Beginning . . . a ticking . . .

Chronos is born and time begins to unfurl.

Chronos — born of a system fostering individual variety and flexibility; conceived by the casting off of traditional shackles, allowing for free-flowing communication and meaningful interactions. Chronos is in our time, but has grown out of another; her identity lies in her name, "chronos" meaning "time" in Greek.

Traditionally, our yearbook has separated the year's story into categories such as curriculum, classes and sports. This year's does not. That is not how it is in life; and Chronos is alive! Chronos 1970 is alive, awakened by the spirit of a new decade — she's got herself together now and she knows that Arcadia is touched by the world outside to the same degree that those of us at Arcadia feel life. Chronos shows this new awareness by including current events and people without and within our "hallowed halls" recognizing, then, the effect they have on all of us.

Chronos feels the interrelationship of life at Arcadia with time and the movement of the universe. Chronos has adopted a unique, fresh format — the zodiac. This format, like all new ideas, is of the old and the new. Keeping with tradition, the zodiac originated in Ancient Greece; and in line with the present, the zodiac is representative of 1970 thought, a new factor in characterizing us . . . as individuals. The zodiac is a natural format for Chronos because it is a conception of time. Time is a most natural structure . . .

Here is Chronos 1970 — natural, original, fresh, and progressive. And so, look at life; live and relive time, and remember that the fertility of Chronos, as of any time, lies in its people.

The End . . . a ticking . . .

The Beginning

GREECE ARCADIA HIGH SCHOOL
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

VIRGO

August 24 — September 23

Color: Gray or Navy Blue. Ruler: Mercury.

The sign of the critic or craftsman.

Exact, methodical, industrious, discriminating, studious, chaste. Virgo's studious trait is shown in Renoir's "The Reader".

The Porch of the Maidens on the Acropolis might well be symbolic of this house. The school year begins under the sign of the virgin and we enter our untouched, clean school.

At this time we all plan to work hard for "the best year ever".

If things don't turn out on the sunny side of our expectations, we can find joy in being prepared.

A photograph of cheerleaders in white sweaters and red skirts cheering on a football field. A speech bubble above them says "Give a yell!". In the background, football players in red jerseys are visible. Another speech bubble on the right says "Go to hell!".

LIBRA

September 24 — October 23

Color: Indigo

Blue. Ruler: Venus.

The sign of the manager.

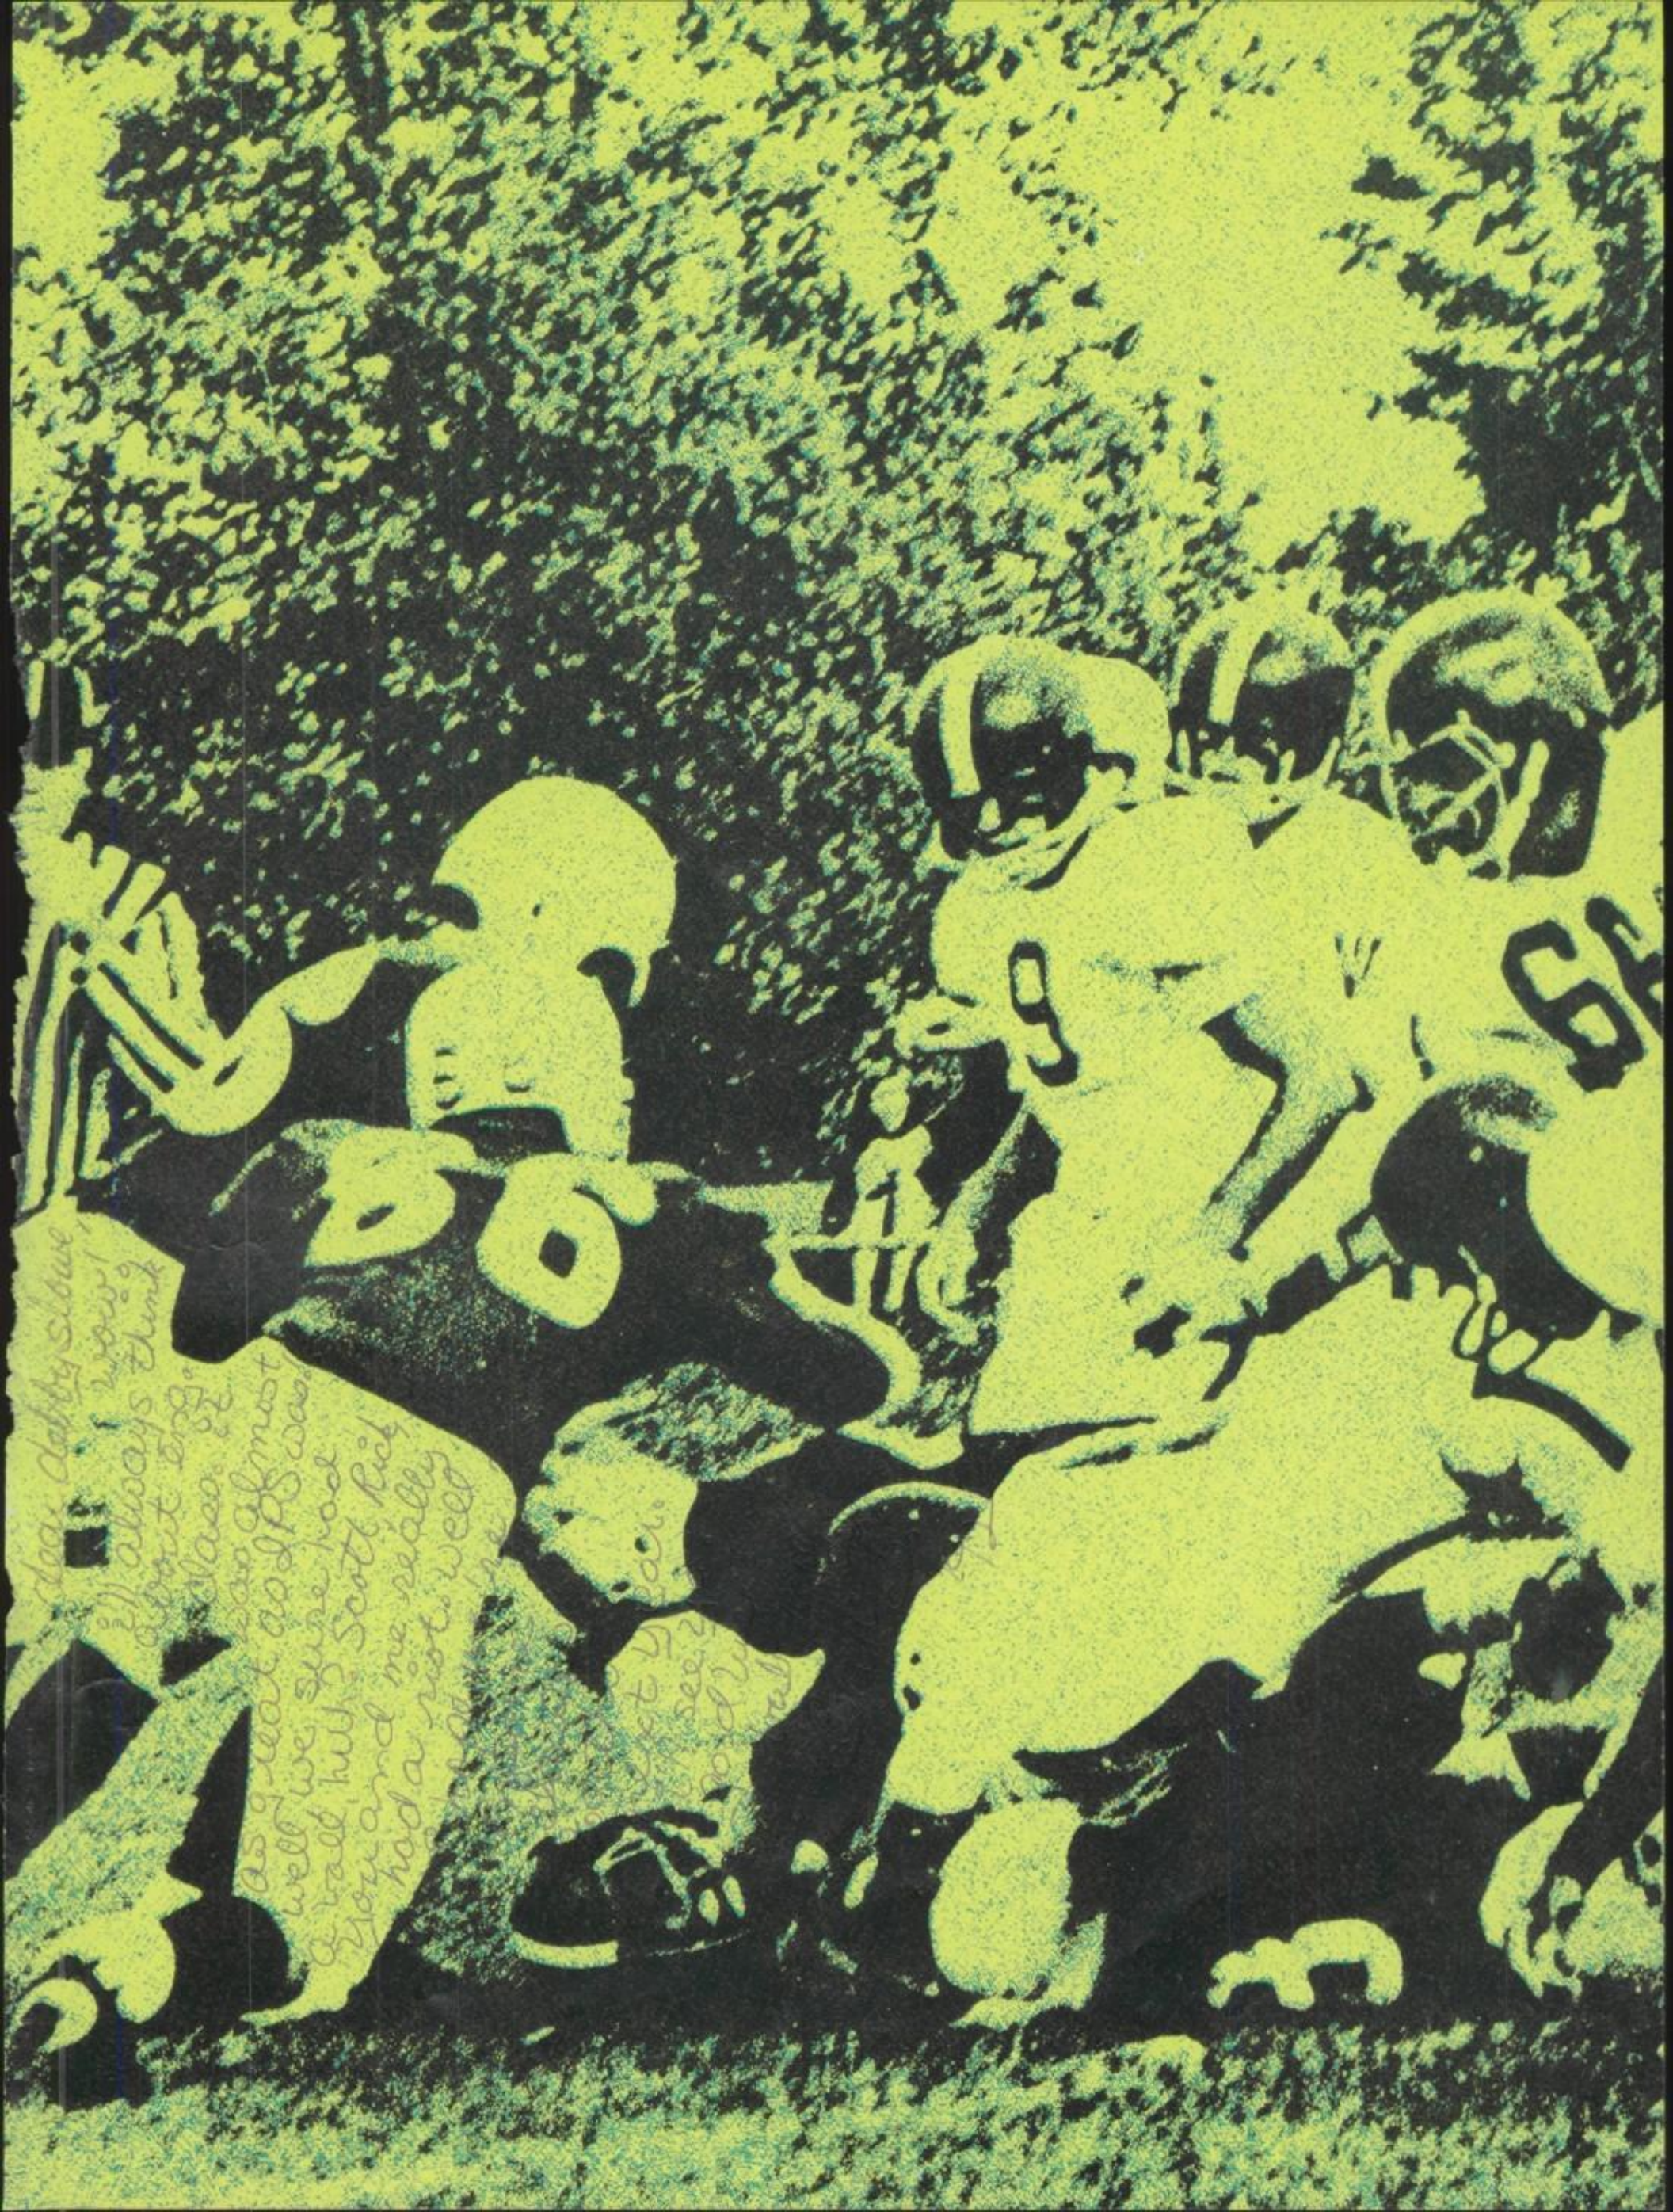

Alert, just, artistic, painstaking, honorable, sociable, affectionate.

This statue was found in 1820 after centuries of being buried in an underground cave on the Greek island of Milos. It was named the Venus de Milo because it is thought to have symbolized Venus, the goddess of beauty, ruler of the planet and this zodiac sign in Ancient Greece.

The house of Libra has musical tendencies. Here select choir works to perfect all the above "Libra" qualities and the many more qualities that Mr. Zecchino expects.

October 24 – November 22

Color: Deep Red. Ruler: Mars.

The sign of the inspector or governor.
Energetic, independent, passionate, determined, with strong likes and dislikes.

Scorpio is a fixed, watery, graceful,
sentimental sign.

Pablo Picasso, born October 25, 1881,
painted this picture, The Lovers.
Our annual water ballet performance,
"Those Were the Days" took place in November.

Another special seasonal accent of Arcadia tradition fell in the time of Scorpio, Fall Weekend.

Michael Collins, born October 31, 1930,
was the Apollo astronaut who kept quiet vigil of orbit around the moon
while two other Americans left footprints on the Sea of Tranquility.

Deb,
well it's been a great year even if it was a little crazy. Have a great summer but don't lose your wild sense of humor.

As ever

Arcadia's annual Fall Weekend '69 was kicked off by the Friday night bonfire. Despite the heavy downpour on Saturday, Titan spirits couldn't be dampened as the football team sloshed around in a hard-fought contest against arch rival Olympia. Cardinal red contrasted with mud and dull sky as Mr. Roberts' energetic Marching Band presented their first half time show. Float competition was captured by the junior class with their Italian gondola, and the other entries in the "Countries of the World" theme were Switzerland, ancient Greece, and Japan, done by the freshman, sophomores, and seniors respectively.

Laughter filled the auditorium during teacher-advisor mods on Tuesday, December 9 when the faculty presented their first "TAKE IT ALL OFF" talent show. Mr. Beato and Mr. Fratta donated the hair off their chins for the 1970 yearbook's benefit with Mr. Fauth and Mr. Vito shaving them. The skit performed by Mr. Westcott, Mr. Laferty, Mr. Fauth, (he's the blonde) and Mr. Alfieri will long be remembered with the variety of other acts contributing to make an unforgettable morning.

CAPRICORNUS

December 22 — January 20

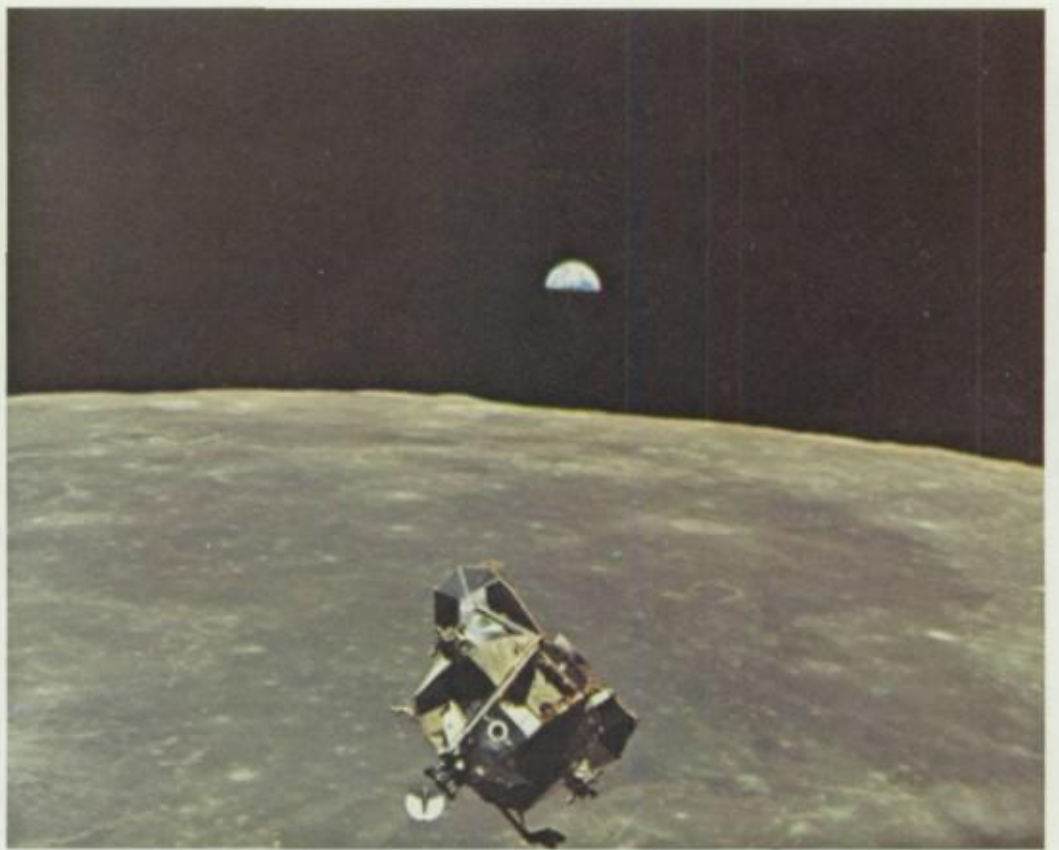

Color: Green. Ruler: Saturn.
The sign of the ambassador or scientist.

Ambitious, persevering, diplomatic,
reserved.

We came back from vacation during this time ambitious as old goats, to persevere and reach new heights in 1970.

The Musicians, by Henry Matisse,
December 31, 1869, shows that Capricorns are often ahead of their time. They are thrifty and usually skilled homemakers. It is an earthy, home sign, and here we see the earth
from a different angle. The tendencies of this time are strong for receiving, exchanging and lending money, as any Christmas shopper will testify. For this reason Capricorns are inclined to business talent and their personalities
make them cool people.

AQUARIUS

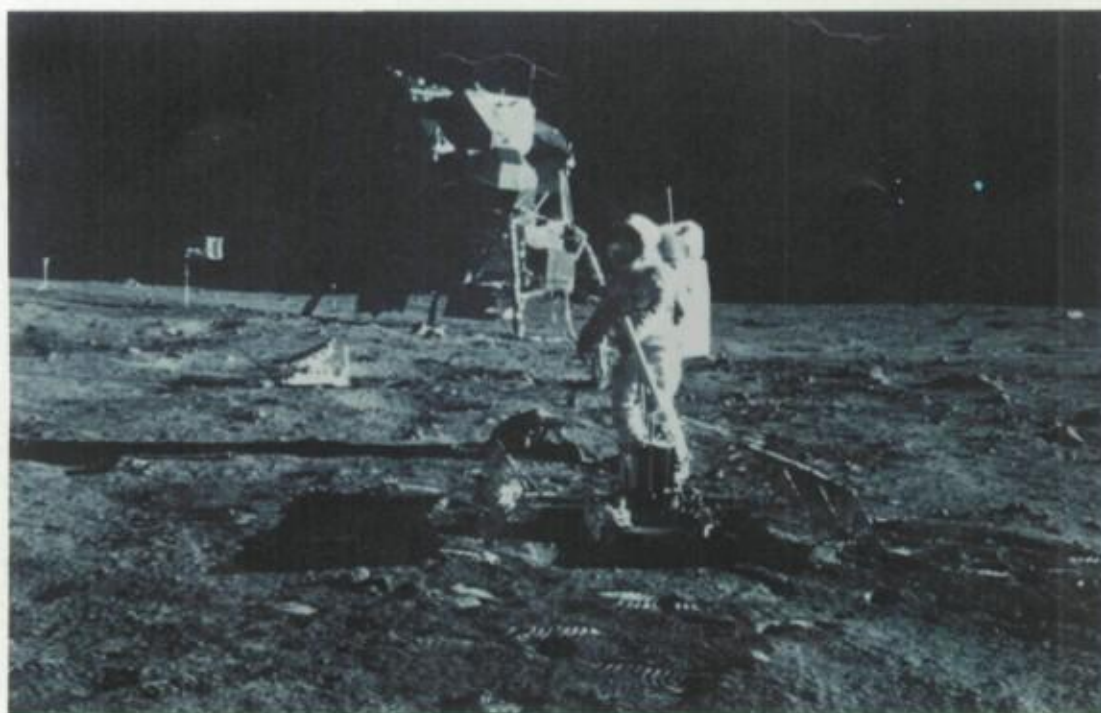

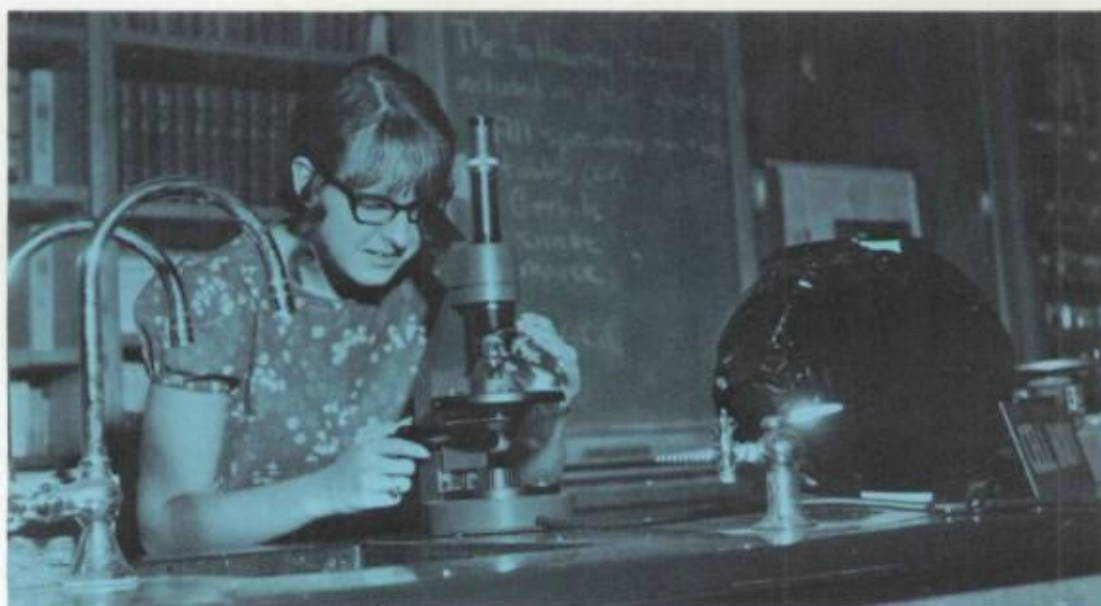

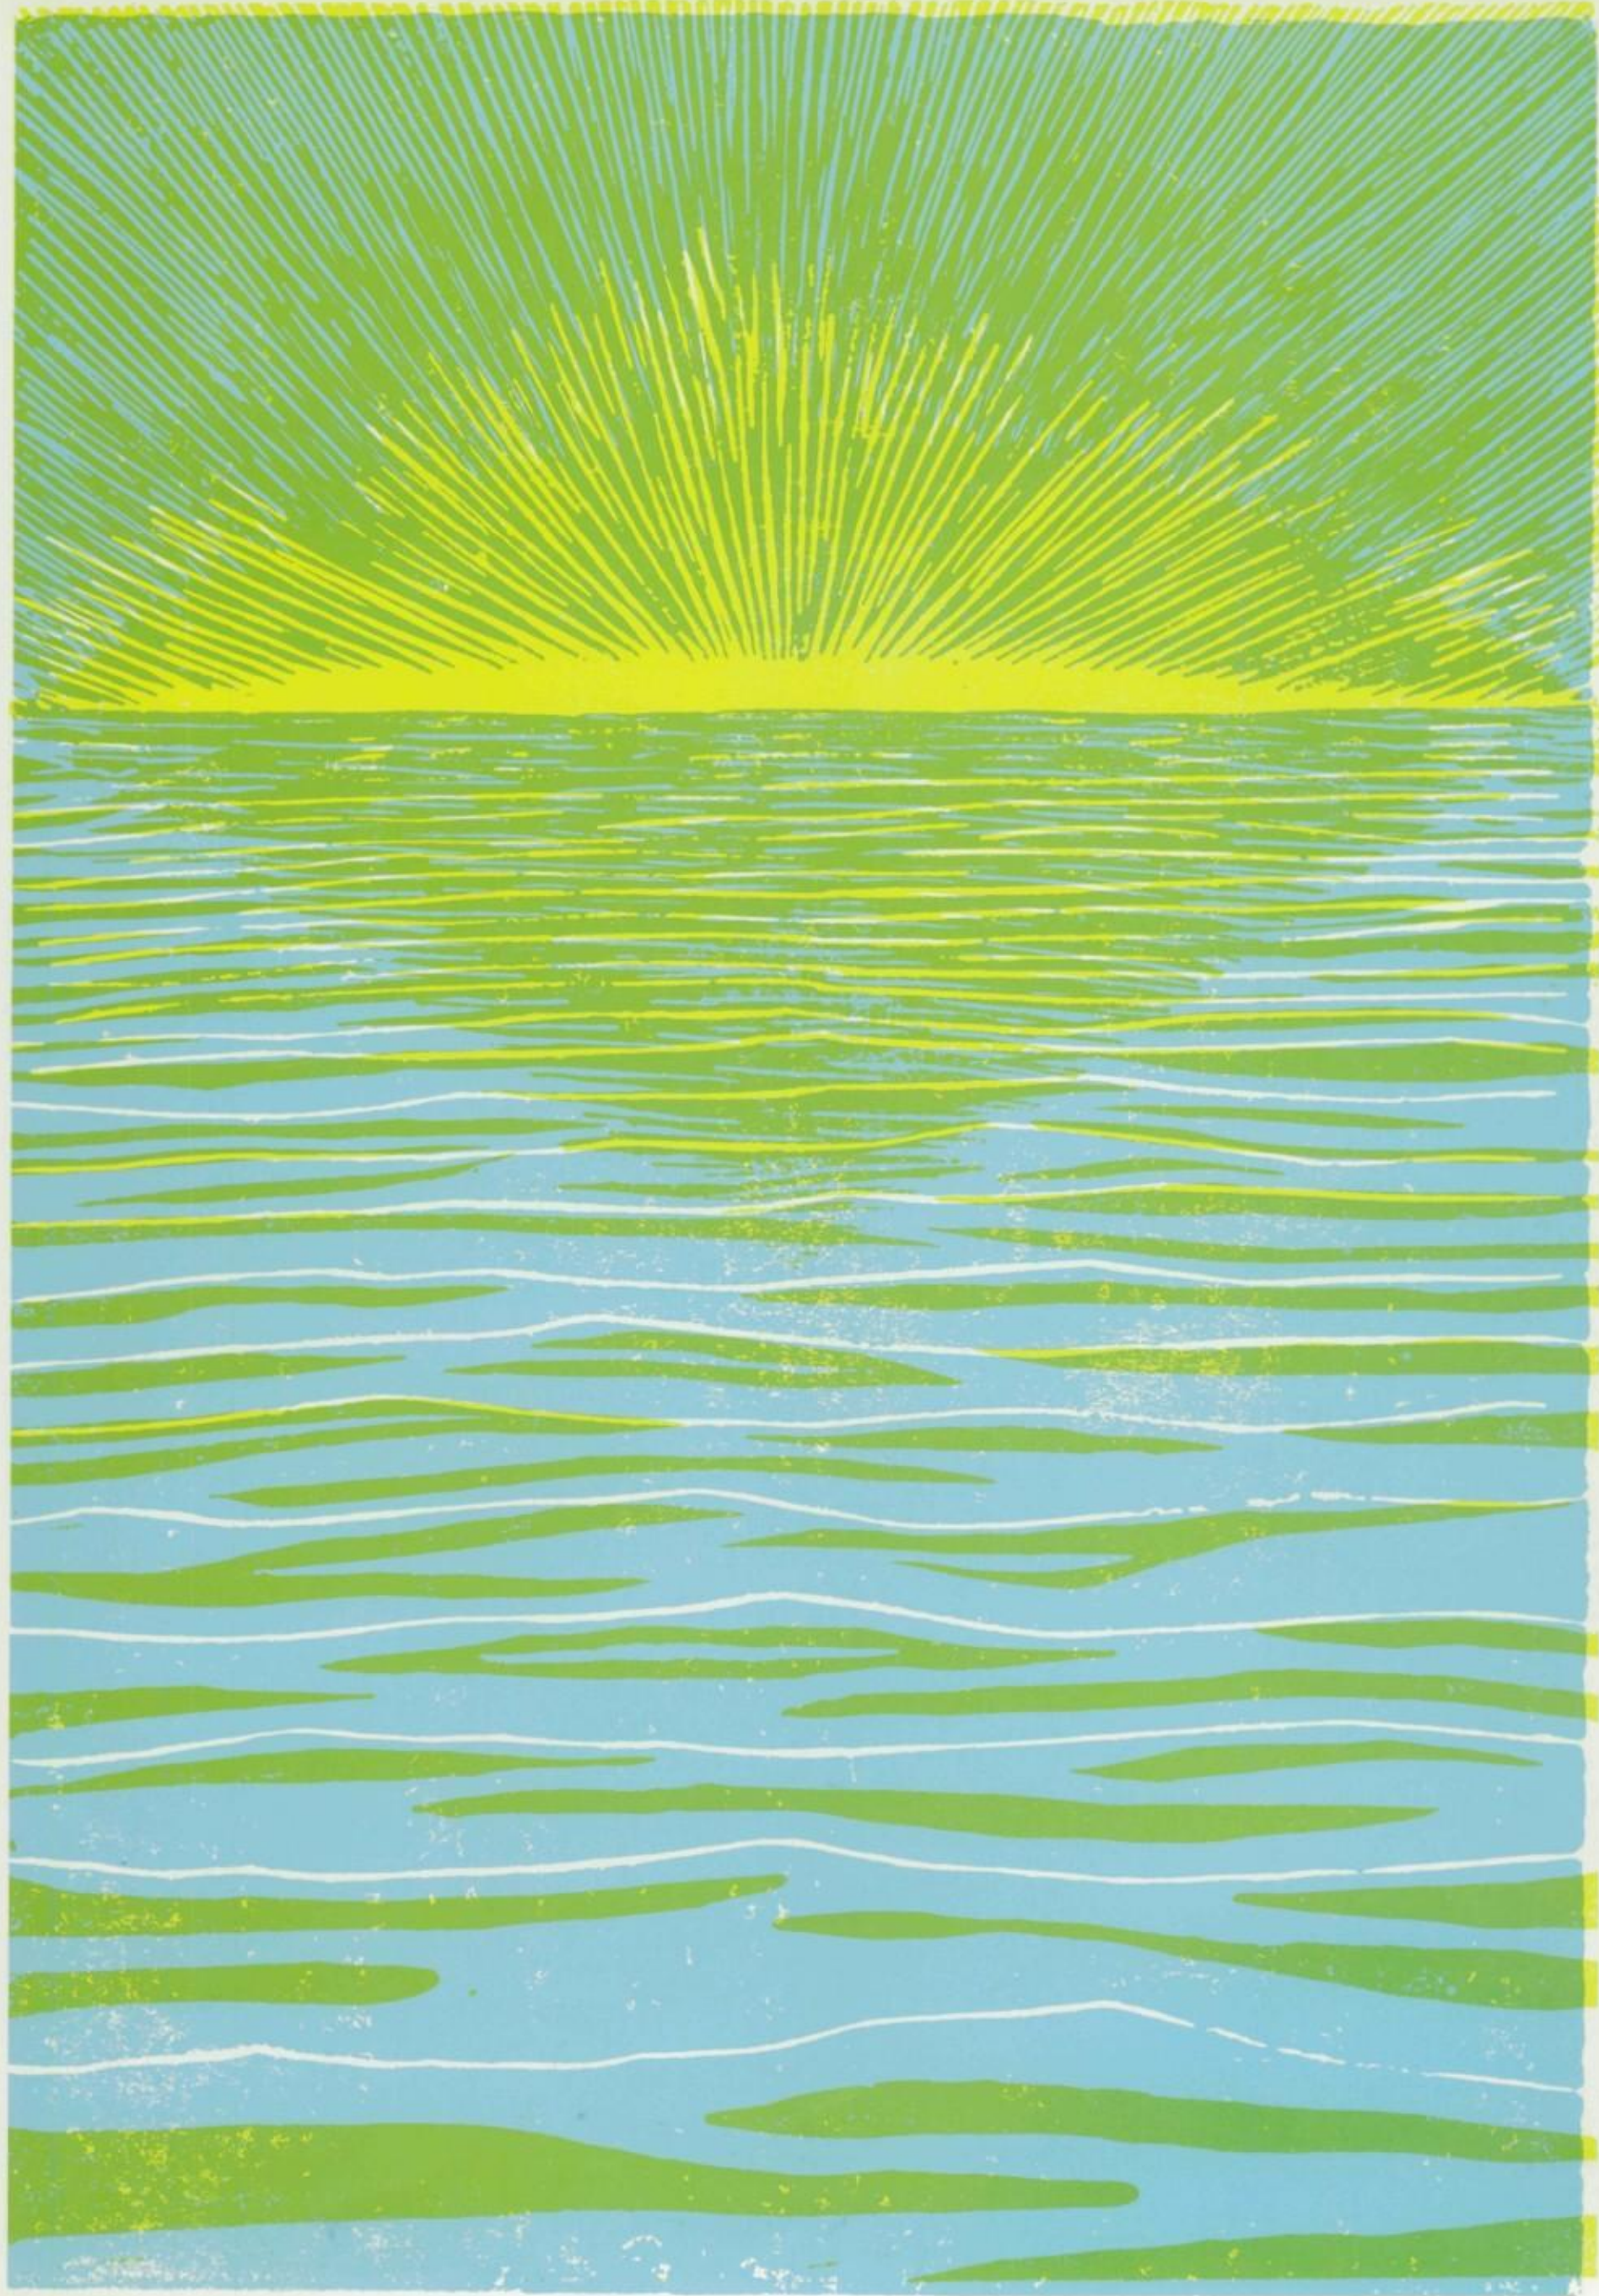

January 21 — February 19

Color: Electric Blue. Ruler: Uranus.

The sign of the truth-seeker or scientist. Honest, probing, broad-minded, amiable, humane, popular.

Aquarius is the sign of the water-bearer. It is a fixed sign, characteristically technical and well grounded as we see in the picture of Buzz Aldrin (January 21) on the moon. The sign of Aquarius stands for quick, fervent intellect. Often impersonal, Aquarians are radiant rather than magnetic.

PISCES

February 19 — March 20

Color: Sea-green. Ruler: Neptune.
The sign of the poet or interpreter.

Gentle, Kind, sensitive, unlucky, retiring.

One fish swimming downstream,
and the other swimming upstream symbolizes the complex Pisces personality. More than others, Piscarians feel the transcendental implications of life. The fish swimming downstream represents this innate yearning to express their unconventional selves, while the fish swimming upstream shows their wish to be popular.

These people feel incomplete, as if they are just part of the flow in a universal stream. This is why they are very amorous or personally religious. Michaelangelo, born March 6, 1475, embodies the Pisces' personal religious thoughts
in the sculpture, Moses.

Pisces are poets in all fields of communications because they sense life's drama and yet its elusiveness.

Renior, born February 25, 1841,
concieved the Pisces qualities in Sailboats of Argentile and Moulin de la Galette. Like the sails, Piscarians are moved by invisible
winds of life, are physically graceful, and appreciate much rest.
Paul Klee's painting of fish characterizes this watery sign and his use of sea-green makes it typically Pisces.

At this time it is as if we go through our routines, synchronized with raining slush
and withered, stained snowbanks,
waiting for spring to speak up.
When it does, we will listen, but for now, we plow on.

ARIES

March 20 — April 19

Color: Red. Ruler: Mars
The sign of the warrior or pioneer.

Energetic, impulsive,
enthusiastic, ardent,
enterprising.

These people think of themselves as leaders, even if others don't. Their symbol is the Ram, and the Aries people do fight best by using their heads.

Arietians tend to be doers and growers, sassy, and fresh like the spring to which they were born.

The vibrations of this time are
for progressing from the old,
giving it new optimism.

Aries persons have a consciousness of their particular importance and opportunity.

Vincent VanGogh, born March 30, 1853, did self-portraits throughout his life. His style exhibits the energetic, impulsive attitude of the Arietians.

Arcadia's Fine Arts Weekend,
occurring during this time,
gives the student body and community the chance to view our enterprising
students' work.

TAURUS

April 19 — May 20

Color: Blue and pink. Ruler: Venus.

The sign of the builder or producer.

Stubborn, sensual, systematic, persevering, kind-hearted.

The bull fight is supposed to be a very noble spectacle. One of "man overcoming nature". In the arena, the bulls symbolize nature, and for this reason, in astrology, bulls symbolize this time and people.

Shakespeare, a Taurean, permeates our four years at Arcadia. He concentrated on the intrinsic parts of everyday life which we all share, a Taurean quality. Taureans are associated with a ready sense of humor and musical ability, as seen by Arcadia's feminine celloists.

Taureans are steadfast and earthy.

Like these shop students, bulls usually work around the home and gardens.

They also excel in commercial enterprises.

The Senior Banquet, Junior Prom, and Student Fair all take place during the time of this house.

This time is parallel with enjoying routine and regularity. "It seems like we just got settled and now the year's almost over!" WOE TO THE PERSON WHO TRIES TO CHANGE THE BULL.

GEMINI

May 21 — June 20

Color: Yellow. Ruler: Mercury.
The sign of the artist or inventor.
Restless, versatile, clever,
exuberant, expressive.
The Gemini twins are the sign of this house. They stand for many things going on at once. Study, exams, parties, plans, moving-up.
Hectic end-of-the-year memories
speak for themselves.

This time and people are sympathetic and social.

If a Gemini asks why?, it is to satisfy his intellectual curiosity.
They don't look for fights, but constantly for peace.

Gemini artist, Raoul Dufy achieves serenity in Paddock at Deauville.

Mercury, the ruling planet, is represented. Mercury, messenger of the gods, is quick, and like mercury, the metal, Gemini people are very changeable. They are often like two or more people in one. Geminis are expressive, as is
Mr. Cavalcanti's abstract painting.
On the other hand, this tendency toward extremism can be confusing when the Geminian isn't sure which 'self' to apply. An example of the unhappy Gemini is Marilyn Monroe.

CANCER

19

June 21 — July 22

Color: Violet. Ruler: Mercury.

The sign of the prophet or teacher.

Tenacious, patient, sensitive, sympathetic, motherly, changeable, easily influenced.

Freedom! A password to summer vacation, the crab's claws sink deeply into plans of relaxation, summer jobs and travel. Flexibility of these activities reflects the moon's waxing and waning influence over changeable Cancerians.

The memories of another school year passed are keen in our minds — for Cancers enjoy history — their own, that of their family, class, or nation.

Personal memories of high school graduation influence a sensitive and sentimental soul. Imagination and individuality are also qualities of Cancer, demonstrated by our faculty during their show. The need to express their inner self in a unique way is a predominant feature of their character. These people love audiences, to further purposes of claiming interest and stimulating the imagination.

LEO

July 22 — August 22

Color: Orange Ruler: the Sun
The sign of the King or President

Proud, generous, trusting,
energetic, domineering,
authoritative.

The blazing sun rides high in the sky, and in this sense, the Leonian rises above others to positions of authority and leadership. An ideal head of any large enterprise, these under him listen carefully to the commanding horn and obey willingly.

Holding Chronos past as a precious possession with reverence, the Leonian also looks forward to the future.

Old architecture, as the Byzantine cathedral viewed here, presents a special fascination for these who cherish tradition. In the still life of the Leonian artist, an everyday subject is rendered with a modern slant. Those born in Leo view the future with optimism and a trail-blazing spirit. Neil Armstrong, August 5, 1930, our first man on the moon, is truly representative of the energetic, proud Leonian.

Now, let us join together as young Arcadian Americans and step forward in a "one great step for man, one giant leap for mankind" into life's future.

Times and No Places

Fingerprints on a dusty wall
They tell my story, but don't tell it all.

My teeth are bright
But my mind's so dull —
My face is a window
of my memories.

The moon shines brighter
Than the sun;
My pen runs dry
Before I'm through — All I ask to know is who will be my survivor?

My fingers are ringless;
I sold them all —
just like the meat on a butcher's wall —
But I won't give in —
Not ever, or now —
But it will rain
For the rest of my life.

The Endless Journey
Yellow newsprint speaks of one
on an endless journey
begun years before.
Lines dimly recall memories
of faded laughter
and vanished tears.

Today
Newsprint speaks again —
Another joins the former.

Tomorrow
print will echo
yesterday's words, and the print of today will
yellow newsprint speaks of one
on an endless journey
begun years before . . .

Debby,
You're a real great kid. It's been great having
you as a science partner,
even though you goofed a couple of times (i.e. time, ha?)
Hope to see you next year
as your science partner,
